COURAGE NOT LOST
THIS WIDE ROUND WORLD
ROME'S OLD MOUNTAIN
MR. LYNCH CAME HOME

Germany lost the war and victorious nations have been milking her of her gold, industriously. But Germany did not lose courage. As this was written, 3:40 p. m. New York City daylight saving time yesterday, the giant German airplane, DO-X, was roaring 3,000 feet above the old Brooklyn bridge, outside this office window, on her way up the East river after a 12,000-mile flight via South America. Our biggest airplanes, flying with DO-X, look smaller than kingbirds pursuing a crow.

Taking Samuel Johnson's advice, "Let observation with extensive view Survey mankind, from China to Peru."

you find a world busy, worried and excited, from China to Peru, from Peru to Maine, and from Maine around to Japan.

Wall Street decides to lend $300,000,000 to Great Britain. The proposition is that the loan shall have substantial guarantees.

What interest will Britain pay? In Lisbon, where there have been revolutions every little while, artillery from the hills is "raking" the rebels; a few dozen killed, a few hundred wounded.

Brazil is throwing surplus coffee overboard. If you don't believe it you may see the actual photographs. Uncle Sam should get that coffee in exchange for wheat, keep the coffee and enough of the wheat to feed anybody that may need food during the coming winter. On hot coffee and good bread a man can live. The government could help the farmer by adding a little bacon.

Mussolini is planning his first visit to Pope Pius XI to settle permanently the "Catholic action" controversy.

Thus Mohammed went to the mountain when the mountain would not budge.

The mountain that Mussolini is to visit was there long before Mussolini's day, and will be there long after Mussolini. It doesn't move, and doesn't hurry.

Mr. Lynch, the Chicago "turf magnate," a polite euphemism for "gangster," home as predicted, driving his own car, says the kidnappers were "most courteous." That reminds you of Abe Kabbib's letter from a German prison, telling how wonderfully he was treated with the postscript: "They shot Meyer yesterday for complaining."

In response to pitiful appeals the "big shot," Mr. Capone, had said: "I shall see what I can do." He did see, and the kidnapers came home. And now Chicago's police are looking for Capone to arrest him as knowing something about the kidnaping in the first place.

What do you think of that for ingratitude?

An investigating committee alleges that Bishop James Cannon, Jr., received contributions amounting to $100,000 to help him in his fight against former Governor Smith for president. This emphasizes the fact that the campaign in 1928 was a religious campaign, and not all a prohibition campaign, as many erroneously have believed.

Youth Victim Of Gun In Hands Of Playmate

ROBERT TOLSON DIES OF WOUND FROM 22 RIFLE

Shooting Ruled Accidental After Police Investigation

LAD DIDN'T KNOW GUN WAS LOADED

Victim Succumbs Before Physicians Arrive At Home

Robert Tolson, 13, of East School st., was fatally shot by a playmate in a field near the Painter rd., north of Salem, shortly before noon today.

The youth and Robert Cleland, young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cleland, 585 East Sixth st., were returning to their homes here, walking through the field when the accident occurred.

Cleland, according to witnesses, pointed a gun at young Tolson, not knowing the weapon, a 22-caliber rifle, was loaded. He pulled the trigger, the shot entering Tolson's right side, police report.

The boy was carried to the S. H. Rea home, Painter rd., by Rea, L. S. Hollinger and B. L. Scheuring. He died before medical aid could be summoned.

The body was taken to the O. G. Stark funeral home where funeral arrangements are being made today.

Police Chief T. W. Thompson, notified of the shooting, ruled it was accidental.

YOUTH HELD FOR OHIO OFFICERS

Probation Authorities To Take Charge of Kenneth Pelton

Kenneth Pelton, 17, who confessed to a series of burglaries here in the last three weeks, was in jail today, awaiting arrival of state authorities who, police say, expect to return him to a state institution for violation of parole.

Pelton, according to J. H. McCready of East Palestine, county probation officer, had been an inmate of the Knox county children's home, Mount Vernon, until his release a month ago. A representative of the home was expected in Salem today to return him to Mount Vernon.

Mayor J. M. Davidson said that in all probability, because of Pelton's youth, no court action will be taken against him in Salem. A charge of burglary and larceny which police had planned to file against him will be dismissed on arrival of the Mount Vernon official.

Alliance Lodgeman Is Honored by Elks

CEDAR POIN, O., Aug. 28—Installation of officers of the Ohio Elks association, headed by Erns on Bergen, of Cincinnati, as president, marked the closing of the association's thirty-third annual convention.

Cedar Point was again chosen as the convention site.

In addition to Von Bergen, who advanced to the presidency from the office of vice president, other officers elected included Vice Presidents N. E. Parr of New Philadelphia, Charles Casselman, of Alliance and Fred L. Bohn, of Zanesville.

Secretary Harry B. Hales, of Newark and Treasurer William Petri of Cincinnati were re-elected. Lorain was awarded first prize money of $75 as the result unit in the parade yesterday.

Lindberghs Feted At Cabinet Dinner

TOKYO, Aug. 28—Rounding out a day crowded with official and social functions, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were formally welcomed to Japan tonight at a banquet given by members of the cabinet.

The banquet came at the end of the hottest day of the year. It, Tokyo and those attending it were attired informally because of the severity of the temperature. Both Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh appeared a little tired, but the former showed enthusiasm when he spoke of aviation in his address.

The banquet was given under the auspices of the ministries of war, navy, and communications, at the Imperial hotel. Foreign dishes were served.

HUGE MAJORITY OUSTS McDONALD AS LABOR CHIEF

"Uncle Arthur" Henderson Is Elected As His Successor

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Aug. 28.—Ramsey MacDonald, three time prime minister of Great Britain, today was ousted as leader of the Labor party and Arthur Henderson was elected his successor.

Now Opposes McDonald "Uncle Arthur" as he is known in the house, now will lead the opposition against the man whom he served as foreign secretary in the recent Labor government. Only six of the 280 members of the Labor parliamentary party voted to retain Mr. MacDonald at today's meeting.

The others lined up solidly behind the alternative proposals which organized labor is advancing as substitutes for the program of the non-partisan national government. The heart of their scheme is adamant opposition to cuts in the unemployment dole.

Replacement of Mr. MacDonald as the party chief was inevitable in the face of the bitter resentment by labor to his organization of the national cabinet. His position in the government remains unchanged. Although he is without a mandate from the Labor party he still is the head of the non-partisan emergency regime formed to balance the budget.

The erstwhile opposition, both dorsi the participation of those Conservative and Liberal, has en-party leaders in the present arrangement.

ROAD PROGRAM IN COUNTY GETS OHIO APPROVAL

Bureau of Inspection Submits Report of Engineer-Examiner

CONCRETE HIGHWAY WORK WINS PRAISE

Plan of grading One Year, Paving the Next, Lauded In Report

LISBON, Aug. 28—Approval of the road and highway construction program in Columbiana county was made today in a report filed with County Auditor J. H. Irwin by H. W. Wendelken, engineer-examiner for the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices.

Contracts for the improvement of 15 roads in this county were reviewed during the examination. The report said:

"The county construction for the years covered by this report are very satisfactory as to quality, and comply with plans and specifications.

Commend Surveyor "Engineers have been over the various construction work in the county, both during construction and after the work was completed, and find that the plans and specifications have in nearly every instance been complied with. We wish to commend the county surveyor and commissioners on the high class of construction they have obtained on their concrete pavements.

The traffic bound roads also compare very favorably with those in other parts of the state.

"Wish to call attention to the fact that in the majority of contracts the grading and structures are finished one year, and the pavements the following. This is very good engineering practice as well as economical, as it certainly saves maintenance cost; as it gives time for the title to settle before the pavement is laid. This saves settlement and cracking of the pavement and the resulting cost of repair, and in some cases reconstruction.

Example For Others "This method cannot be too highly commended and could certainly be followed by other counties and the state as well to very good advantage.

"Lloyd C. Kirk, the county surveyor, is to be commended for the manner in which he has handled his construction work."

The report says in that 10 of the contracts examined, contracts were signed prior to obtaining certification of funds by the county auditor, but the certification was never given until the contractors filed bonds. The certification of funds immediately followed.

6 IN RACE FOR JUSTICE POSTS

Norman H. Peters, Perry Constable, Announces Candidacy

Norman H. Peters, Perry township constable, today announced his candidacy for justice of the peace at the general election here Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Peters, now serving his second term as constable, began circulation of a petition for the office today. He was elected to the constable post in 1927 and was re-elected in 1929.

He is also affiliated with his father, E. M. Peters, in business at The Salem Finance & Discount Co. Peters' candidacy brings the number seeking election as justice of the peace at November balloting to six. Four men and one woman, Mrs. Vera Bonnell Courtney Justice D. J. Bureau, T. R. Whinnery, O. J. Asty and Thomas Cadwallader, have already filed petitions with the election board at East Liverpool.

Three justices of the peace and three constables are to be named in November. George Lewis, Jr., and Chalmers M. Miller, have announced themselves as constable candidates.

Pastor Is Speaker At Kiwanis Meet

Rev. Cornelius Carpenter, Hanover township pastor addressed members of the Salem Kiwanis club at their meeting at the Memorial building Thursday.

Speaking on the subject, "Get Up and Go!" Rev. Carpenter gave a humorous talk including personal experiences to illustrate points discussed.

He was introduced by Perry McArthur, chairman of the meeting.

LARGE LOAN TO BRITISH LOOMS; SUM DOUBTFUL

Franco-American Credit Negotiations Making Progress

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Negotiations for Franco-American credit to Great Britain were described today as having made substantial progress. Estimates of the amount by financial writers ranged from $200,000,000 to $500,000,000.

Information came from J. P. Morgan & Co., that discussions has been held up both here and in Paris, and that French and American banking interests would participate equally in a credit to the new national emergency government.

To Protect Sterling Presumptions of experts were that the credit would be used by the Bank of England to protect sterling exchanges if necessary, but the possibility was recognized that in view of recent improvement in sterling the British government might decide it needed no credit.

The credit would be for one year. British treasury bills in proportion to amounts borrowed would be issued to bankers participating in the credit. These bills, having 60 or 90 days to run, could be sold at a discount, similar to the treasury bills used in the United States financing. As the bills mature new bills could be issued, keeping the credit revolving.

For British Public French bankers are expected to offer some of the British treasury bills to the public, while American banks will retain them for their own operations.

Plans of the new British government for economy were stressed in published comment on the readiness with which American bankers answered inquiries of the British government as to whether a credit would be available.

Two Auto Damage Suits Are Filed

LISBON, Aug. 28.—Russell Baughman, of 1520 Commerce street, Wellsville, has filed a $25,000 automobile damage action in common pleas court against Walter Koonitz, 926 Fairview street, East Liverpool. Baughman claims he was severely injured when his machine was wrecked by one driven by Koonitz on the Wellsville-East Liverpool road July 9, last.

An automobile accident on Lincoln highway here Aug. 3, 1930, between two machines owned by Thomas P. Cain of East Liverpool and D. A. Simmons of Amsterdam, O., has resulted in Cain filing suit against Simmons for $1,010. Cain claims Simmons turned to the left in front of him at an intersection without giving Cain warning of his intent to make a turn.

AUTO SALESMAN GIVES UP CASH AT GUN'S POINT

H. C. Reed Forced to Run Car Into Lonely Lane Off Highway

LOSES PROCEEDS FROM AUTO SALE

Trio of Youths Climb Into Car and Flee toward Youngstown

H. C. Reed, Columbia st., Leetonia, today was held up and robbed of $354 by three armed bandits who halted his automobile on the Youngstown-East Liverpool highway, forced him to run his car in a lonely lane where they searched him and effected their escape in a second machine.

Employed by the Donbar Motor Co., in Columbiana, Reed was returning from East Liverpool where he had obtained $350 from C. E. Conkle, St. Clair township, for the sale of a used machine. He was driving north on the Youngstown-East Liverpool rd., one-fourth mile from the East Palestine-Columbiana highway, when the holdup occurred.

Told To Stop An automobile following his car, pass d Reed, one of its three passengers waving at him to halt. Reed thinking he was acquainted with the man, slowed down his car when the other machine stopped. Two of the men, flashing revolvers, jumped on the running board of his automobile, told the third to drive ahead, and ordered Reed to follow him.

The two bandits entered the rear seat of Reed's machine, each jamming a revolver into his back, ordering him to drive down a side road. They forced Reed out of the machine after which they ran it into a ditch.

"We want that $350," one of the bandits told Reed when he fought their efforts to search him. They appeared to be familiar with the fact that Reed sold the automobile to Conkle. After seeing all his funds they forced Reed into bushes at the side of the highway, and, with revolvers still aimed at him, began walking towards the intersection of the East Liverpool-Youngstown, Columbiana-East Palestine roads.

Reed Calls Sheriff The two men joined the driver of the other automobile and drove north towards Youngstown. Reed ran to a filling station at the highway intersection and notified Sheriff William J. Barlow who immediately spread the alarm to officials in nearby counties.

Reed described the bandit trio as being made up of youths of between 17 and 20 years of age. They drove a black Chevrolet coupe, he said.

Reed told Sheriff Barlow that he had gone to Conkle's home early today, completed negotiations for the sale of the automobile, then accompanied Conkle to East Liverpool where the latter withdrew $350 from a bank as payment for the machine.

BUYING AT THE BOTTOM

This generation has not seen a time better than the present for laying the foundation for a fortune. Men who bewail the fact that they didn't buy land or stocks or go into business before the wartime boom sent values skyrocketing will be indulging in the same self-sympathy two or three years from now.

It doesn't take a financier to tell that the way to make money is to buy when prices are low and sell when they are high. Prices are now at the lowest point they have touched in the last 20 years and only the man who has faith in nothing will doubt that they are going up again.

Stocks as substantial as government bonds are selling for half the price they brought when the market was high. Real estate can be bought for less than the cost of construction, the land value being thrown in as a gift, and houses can be built at the present price of material and labor at a figure which guarantees a profit.

The New York stock exchange is just handling the average business of a dull season yet from 800,000 to 1,000,000 shares of stock are changing hands daily at the present low prices. Not all of this represents the margin trading of speculators. A lot of these issues are going into the hands of level-headed investors who pick up the stocks of substantial, well managed and solidly founded firms, knowing that these stocks are going to be worth far more than they paid for them. Issues dumped on the market at the rate of five million shares a day when the break came are finding their way back into the hands of shrewd buyers who will cash in on their faith when industry is busy again.

This applies only to investors and not to speculators. The market may drop again before it starts its real climb and the man buying on margin is taking the same chance that this practice always entails. It isn't only in the field of big buying that these opportunities are offered. Ordinary household purchasing offers proportionate opportunities. Furniture, for example, presents bargains that have not been equalled within the memory of most of the present day housekeepers. It is wise economy to buy now for any replacements in prospect during the next few years.

It is a good time to repair or remodel buildings. The job which can be put off for a couple of years is likely to cost so much more then that the delay will be poor economy.

Unlike the coming of the depression, the recovery of business will be a gradual process. Prices will rise in such an orderly manner that unless watched closely costs will be considerably higher before anybody is aware of the change.

Wise Americans with money will make it grow by investment while prices are near the bottom. The others, 10 years from now, will be telling how they might have made a fortune if they had taken advantage of the opportunities of 1931.

What Others Say

The summer vacation season is near its close, but much of the vacation advice offered by Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health of Pennsylvania, is applicable also to every-day conditions. He says that moderation is more a term than actuality these days. The majority of persons run in high gear, fast and furious at work and equally so at play.

"It is no wonder," Dr. Appel says, "that people crack prematurely." He adds: "Whatever the virtues of the machine may be, and they are many, the habit of excessive pace in all departments of life that has directly resulted in, to say the least, unfortunate. One has but to note the rush here and there, either by gasoline or legs the churning down of food at restaurants, the loss of sleep and the excesses of all kinds that compose too much of the average person's day, to realize that an overhasty pace has the best of most of us.

"The idea of rest and relaxation which in the years gone by was so inherently associated with the vacation period has all but passed out of existence. Thoroughly exhausted by the winter's work and pleasures the vast majority of persons look upon the vacation season as a time for further excesses. To come home with a back full of blisters, a stomach disordered by ill chosen and excessive quantities of food and a body completely overfatigued, seems to be the deliberate object of thousands of persons, judging by their performance.

"The honest fact is that modern life makes tremendous demands upon one's vitality, and that if there ever was a time when bodies need the reconditioning that real rest and relaxation can give, it is now."

There is good sense and the ring of rightness in this professional advice. Some of the practical suggestions may be useful immediately. If not, clip this and paste it in your old straw hat for ready reference early next summer.—Toledo Blade.

The Stars Say—

Saturday, Aug. 29

A very lively but baffling state of affairs is betokened by the rather conflicting and peculiar lunar aspects and mutual planetary influences. While there may be sudden turns to affairs, with singular and intriguing complications, yet there is also sign of some stable progress, possibly in connection with property or with large corporations or combines. But there is menace of both secret and open hostility, with some reactions violent and unexpected, possibly touching personal contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of peculiar and unexpected development or complications, with both secret and open hostility, probably hinting of legal entanglements of an ill-advised nature. Sign all writings cautiously and beware irregularities of all natures. A child born on this day may have an unusual nature, with conflicting qualities, although it should be talented, alert and industrious.

Notable Nativities: Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, author.

WAGNER, S. D.—The loss of an eye was suffered by Wilbur James, 16, when he was hit by a golf ball. The eyeball was punctured and infection set in within a few hours.

Rule Is Difficult

Governor Paul M. Pearson (above), of the Virgin Islands, is reported having some difficulty in administering the new civil government in the Islands, although Washington adds that it is too early to decide whether it is a success or failure. Governor Pearson took over the civil government from naval officials last March.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—Thoughts while strolling: Wonder what Shakespeare would think of our Rialto? Hope Williams and Beatrice Lillie have identical profiles. Delicatessen slogan: "Our fame warrants our name." The Park avenue club doorman whose name is Pat Noonan. But is called Todhunter. Swongue!

Geraldine Farrar, a Melrose, Mass., girl, who made good in the city. Those brimmed postage stamp hats ladies wear cocked on one side. The roly-poly Pitt Sanborn, music critic. Few offer the worldly diffidence of a cub reporter. Orchids $1.50 each. And not many takers. The Chrysler spire reminds me of a stubby thumb. A New York branch of the Paris Hermes—leather things. Oscar of the Waldorf suggests one of those ruddy checked English curates. The terrific expense of the huge fur stores in summer. Now I'm a fur worrier.

A gathering of clouds, sudden blackness, a shower and all is sunny again. That's the way trouble vanishes. Thackeray represented 40 as the age of settled shyness. But that was long ago. Today the boys just begin to cut up at that age. Nobody seems jealous of Bob Ripley's amazing success.

Buster West and Eddie Foy, Jr., walk alike. And there's Charles King who walks like George M. Cohan. But the most graceful walker of all is Jack Dempsey. Bob Davis has finally talked me into playing a game of golf. Wellington Cross and his wife.

Chalked naughtiness on the sidewalk in front of the Vanderbilt home. Radio City is beginning to take shape. I always get off balance turning a Broadway and 57th street corner. Just a flutterm in the wind: One of Broadway's squarest shooters—Slime Silverman.

Toy Forman, the Palace conductor, Ragged Tads with chewing gum on sticks fishing for coins through subway gratings. Tony Biddle wears the widest walking collar since Louis Mann's. Walking all through the white lights I remember but two signs—the girls swinging at 47th street and the news bulletin flashes.

Another one of those Beckman and Sutton Places has sprung up at the foot of West 88th street overlooking the bleakness of Welfare Island. It is four blocks along East End avenue and facing the clump of greenery known as Carl Schurz Park. On either side of the aristocratic area stretches a tenement neighborhood. Vincent Astor is reported to have sponsored it and hung up one of the most pretentious apartment houses.

On the river side of Schurz park is an asphalt esplanade with comfortable benches where a friend and I rested a moment. Out of the park came a well dressed, clean cut and hatless young man. Approaching us he told excitedly of having just arrived from California and that he must have something to do—any sort of odd job for a meal and a place to sleep. His embarrassment was acute and both of us reached instinctively for a coin. "I'm not a beggar," he said and his chin quivered. Before we could stop him he rushed off. In the car going home we saw him on a corner a few blocks away, stopped and motioned to him but again he walked swiftly on—the most pathetic picture of complete bewilderment I ever saw.

My friend and I drove on in a silence of self accusation. Unfairly, we had judged a personable youth immediately as a beggar. I am satisfied the young man was a stranger, sincerely honest and frightened by a great city. Our treatment was impulsively thoughtless but nevertheless shabby and if he tried to shame us he did the job thoroughly.

Incidentally, my friend, from out of town is quite deaf but has found a way of enjoying the best shows and concerts. By sending his seat number and $7.50 four days in advance to an agency an ear phone is installed. A sterilized ear piece awaits at the box office to attach to the handle.

Sign in window of an East 53rd street residence: "Don't ring our bell. Speakeasy on third floor back."

Billy B. Van sends me a bottle of concentrated pine to sprinkle into a jar of sand, place near the bed and woo sleep in the aroma of a great, clean forest. "I'm trying it out tonight and with my imagination I'll probably show up for breakfast swarming with red ants."

Typhoid Warnings

Summer is the season when there is a great migration of people to the country. The automobile carries the vacationist in search of happiness. All through the year travel is more extensive than ever before.

City dwellers rarely appreciate and hardly realize the protective measures at their disposal. Among other advantages the careful supervision of the water supply by the city authorities guards against typhoid fever.

No such supervision can be had in the broad countryside. It behooves those who camp by the wayside, or put up in small isolated sections to be careful of the water they drink.

In the past 30 years the advances in science have been so great that, among other advantages, there is no reason for anyone to contract typhoid fever. Typhoid fever is prevented, not only by supervision of the public water supply, but by individual typhoid inoculation.

There are too many districts where the water is contaminated. Because of this, and also because most persons are apt to be careless, it is advisable to be inoculated against typhoid fever. This is particularly important if you contemplate traveling abroad.

It is rare indeed for a case of typhoid fever to be found in the United States Army. This is because every soldier has been inoculated against typhoid fever. I see no reason why every civilian should not take advantage of this protection.

The injections are simple and do not require loss of time from work. They are given once a week—a total of three injections. Occasionally, following the second injection, there may be a mild fever but this rarely lasts more than 24 hours.

I recommend that all individuals who contemplate any absence from home consider this means of protection.

Answers to Health queries

B. A. B. Q.—What do you advise for dandruff?

A.—Brush the hair daily and use a good tonic. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

B. R. Q.—What causes excessive perspiration?

A.—This is usually due to some nervous disorder. You should have treatment for the nervousness.

T. G. G. Q.—What should a girl of 15, 5 ft. 2 in. tall, weigh?

A.—She should weigh about 112 pounds—this would be about average for her age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons.

R. P. Q.—What causes little sore places on the tip and sides of the tongue?

A.—These may be due to canker sores caused by an acid condition of the system. Correct your diet and be sure that the bowels are kept open. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A. J. R. J. Q.—What do you advise for constipation—the bowels move very irregularly, accompanied by pain in the back, etc?

2.—Would this condition account for the fact that I have a coated tongue and sour mouth as well as slight muscular pains throughout the body?

A.—Proper attention to the diet as well as regular exercise should help to correct these symptoms. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Yes, these are all indicative of sluggish elimination. Clear up the constipation and you will notice improvement.

Mrs. W. W. Q.—What is the difference between leukocythemia and pernicious anemia? Is either condition curable? Is the spleen apt to be affected?

A.—The former is a condition where there is a permanent increase in the number of the white corpuscles and in pernicious anemia there is a diminution in the number of the red corpuscles. There is no specific cure but proper diet and general care should bring about increased comfort and relief. Yes, the doctor attending the individual patient should be the one to prescribe the necessary treatment.

J. J. M. Q.—What causes a pain on the left side not far from the center of the stomach?

A.—These symptoms are probably due to hyperacidity. Watch your diet and be sure to keep the bowels open and the system clear. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

G. M. Q.—Is cod liver oil just as beneficial in the case of adults as it is in the case of children?

2.—How can I clear up a bronchial cough?

3.—What causes weak spells.

A.—Yes, it acts as a general tonic and builder for either an adult or a child.

2.—Improve your general health and you will be less susceptible to the germs of colds and coughs. For full particulars send self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

3.—Weak spells may be due to a number of different conditions. See your doctor for examination and definite advice.

E. R. Q.—What can be done for bashfulness?

A.—Try to cultivate poise by mingling with people and keeping abreast of the times.

SYNOPSIS

Sally Rutherford, the last of a proud old southern family, following the ruin and suicide of her grandfather, determines to keep the heavily mortgaged Oakleigh plantation for her grandmother. She opens a hot dog stand on the Dixie highway. The estate of the Winsteads of carpet-bagging stock, adjoins Oakleigh. Henry Winstead holds the Oakleigh mortgage. His only son, Sam, is a great help to Sally, although she doesn't know his real identity until the stand is successfully started. Sally falls in love with Lowndes Jennings and believes herself to be his promised wife. Sam forces Lowndes to admit, in front of Sally, that he is engaged to the wealthy Gertrude Reinert. Sam asks Sally to marry him, although he knows she doesn't love him. Sally decides to accept his offer.

INSTALLMENT 22 An Unhappy Bride

Sally could not overcome her aversion to Henry Winstead, try as she would. Sam, who adored her, was proud of him, showed him deference and respect; the relations between this father and son were touchingly close. When she had to meet the man she was coldly polite. Henry, sensing it, was painfully shy, which gave him the appearance of being casual and cold. He had been startled when Sam told him, comparatively, of his engagement.

"Well, son, if you are happy," he began, "God bless you—and her! The Rutherford family are very proud, son. The colonel was a rather wonderful person. I think he was the handsomest, courtliest gentleman I ever saw."

"O, he was a fine enough old fellow," said Sam, and put an arm around Henry's shoulder. "But I was raised by a man I consider worth a dozen Col. Rutherford—my own father." The arm around Henry's shoulder tightened its clasp. "Now you see here, dad, I love and respect the girl I intend to marry because she's herself, not because she's a Rutherford. If she's happy to be a Rutherford I'm glad she's a Rutherford, because I want her to be happy. But I never was an ancestor worshiper. I'm more interested in grandsons than in grandfathers."

Anne Cochrane gayly danced into Sally's bedroom in her bridesmaid's dress. Owing to the tragic bereavement in the bride's family there was to be but one bridesmaid. The ceremony was to be as quiet as could be managed and in the presence of a few intimate friends only. Sally wore her graduation dress, that beautiful last dress that grandpapa had given her, and grandpapa's wedding veil, and the string of pearls which was the bridegroom's gift. Anne thought that she resembled a snow maiden, she was so pale and so lovely.

Once against the great parlors of Oakleigh were to be the scene of a wedding, though neither grandmamma nor the colonel would be present to witness Sally's marriage. The house had a subdued rustling, the hushed expectancy of something about to happen. Mr. Herbert Sinclair, who was to give the bride away, went about looking dazedly pleased. He was delighted. Rupert's girl, God bless her, couldn't have done better than this! Henceforth she was safe, Rupert's widow was safe, Oakleigh was safe.

The minister had arrived, the cars had come from Winsteads—the bridegroom, his father, and his best man, who had been his best friend and classmate. The bride and her bridesmaid came downstairs, to be met at the foot of the stairs by Mr. Sinclair. They moved into the drawing room, and the pale girl took her place beside the bridegroom—who wasn't Lowndes, but Sam Winstead.

The flower-scented room, the dear familiar old room, the interested, smiling faces all turned to her, swam before Sally's eyes. Her heart was trying to leap out of her breast, it bounded and panted so.

Her voice was clear and unfaltering as she uttered her "I will," although the room, the faces were still swimming in a haze, and the minister's voice made a thin, reedy sound as of winter in the marshes. The ring was slipped on her finger, "I pronounce you man and wife," she wasn't Sally Rutherford any more. She was Mrs. Samuel Forman Winstead. She belonged to the Winsteads.

Mr. Sinclair was speaking to her, the minister was shaking hands with her, people, kindly people, were crowding close. People were shaking hands with him, too, congratulating him, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Winstead happiness, long years of happiness. Then Henry Winstead came near her, shyly. As he spoke she gave him a limp hand a cold cheek, which he brushed with his gray mustache. Hatred old man! She wondered if he had any compunction about his dealings with poor guileless grandpapa, and if he was remembering the ruined man tonight? He should be satisfied! Oakleigh would pass to the Winsteads; even the last Rutherford would pass to the Winsteads! Her eyes met Henry with a hostile challenge. He shrunk back. Wasn't Sam's pretty wife going to like him, after all? If she didn't, Henry saw nothing but unhappiness ahead for him.

Anne Cochrane was wearing the beautiful bracelet the bridegroom had given her. Sally's finger gleamed with her wedding ring and its flashing diamond guard, and the pearls he had given her were around her throat. The crown of orange blossoms felt like a crown of thorns on her forehead. Presently Sam made a sign, and she nodded. Arm in arm they went upstairs to grandmamma's room.

—she was so pale and so lovely.

The pale girl at his side couldn't but note, with something of dull surprise, how handsome Sam Winstead was tonight. He had turned white to the lips when he had placed the wedding ring on his bride's finger, but now his color had returned. His lips were red, his eyes were blue depths, his hair was riotously alive, the clasp of his hand firm and warm. She had never seen any one so vital, so virile so dynamic. And he was her husband, Sam Winstead—Sarah de Saussure Winstead.

Wearing her daintiest, laciest nightgown, her finest lace cap, the lovely lace shawl around her shoulders fastened with a pink rosebud grandmamma, sitting up among her snowy pillows, was waiting to receive them. The pale little bride of tonight looked at her with pride, and love, and gratitude—the beautiful old lady was safe now and secure in her own home until the end. Her remaining years were protected—loss, disaster, poverty could never touch her. Sally would suffer no more anguish fears for grandmamma! Surely, that made everything all right, that was worth any sacrifice. She had kept her promise to poor grandpapa.

Mrs. Rutherford looked at Sally in her bridal white, kissed her, and held out her hand to the bridegroom, who stood beside her bed and looking down at her with eyes that reminded her of Rupert's. His heart had long since gone out to the colonel's ghostly wife, living in her merciful illusion.

"Sally's husband!—You will take care of my child, you will make her happy! I am so glad that Sally has chosen you, dear boy. You would make any girl happy—your eyes say so."

"My chief aim in life is to make your girl happy, you Sally is my Sally, too, grandmamma," he told her.

"She is such a darling girl, Sam! You don't know how dear, how good she is to her old grandmother!" There were tears in her eyes and, seeing them, Sam sat on the

Guard Kidneys! Doctors Caution Expectant Mother

Expectant mothers should be under the care of a physician. If this isn't possible, then the kidneys and intestines should be kept clear by regular use of a reliable medicine.

Even normally healthy women have kidney congestion during this critical period. And if there is an ailment of the kidneys, it is apt to become aggravated. Rising blood pressure and self-poisoning from the intestines is common. Only by eliminating these dangerous poisons from the kidneys and intestines can mother and baby be protected. Hundreds of doctors in the East now prescribe Wildunger Tea, a simple German herb preparation in which is combined the valuable mineral salts of Bad Wildunger, the most famous continental springs for kidney disorders.

The soothing, cleansing, comforting effect of the Tea is quickly felt. It immediately starts eliminating kidney and intestinal poisons, breaking up congestion, checking swelling of the legs and hands, ending backache, headache, dizziness, nausea and constipation.

lovely surprise for Rupert! What a happy time I shall have tomorrow when he comes home! She added: "Sally, see, I have put my piece of wedding cake aside. I shall put it under my pillow, and dream of my own bridegroom, and how happy we've been together."

Essie, in a bright new frock in honor of Miss Sally's wedding, now brought a small table to Miss Sarah's bedside, spread it with a cobwebby lace cover, placed on it two tall silver candlesticks and a vase of red roses, a silver basket of wedding cake a decanter of wedding wine, and three of the tall wine glasses that had been used at Grandmamma's own wedding. The candles were lighted, and the old lady was prepared to toast the bride and groom. The bridegroom poured the wine, and Mrs. Rutherford lifted her glass. "To the last Rutherford—the last bride of our

Well, it was just too bad. For she, the delight of his eye, suffered from Sudoresis—in other words, excessive perspiration, due to over activity of the sweat glands—and that took away all the glamor.

There is a sure remedy for Sudoresis. It is called HANDEX. Apply a little under the arms, on the hands, the feet and you will be delighted with the result. It does away with that unpleasant odor.

When the mild old eyes met hers lovingly she smiled as best she could, hiding her sick despair.

Her new wedding ring burned her finger. She had a sense of panic when her eyes fell upon it.

Presently, because grandmamma mustn't be allowed to exhaust her little strength, the bridegroom laid her back among her pillows, bidding her sleep well. Then he offered his arm to his bride. They should rejoin their guests.

BUYING AT THE BOTTOM

This generation has not seen a time better than the present for laying the foundation for a fortune. Men who befall the fact that they didn't buy land or stocks or go into business before the wartime boom sent values skyrocketing will be indulging in the same self-sympathy two or three years from now.

It doesn't take a financier to tell that the way to make money is to buy when prices are low and sell when they are high. Prices are now at the lowest point they have touched in the last 20 years and only the man who has faith in nothing will doubt that they are going up again.

Stocks as substantial as government bonds are selling for half the price they brought when the market was high. Real estate can be bought for less than the cost of construction, the land value being thrown in as a gift, and houses can be built at the present price of material and labor at a figure which guarantees a profit.

The New York stock exchange is just handling the average business of a dull season yet from $60,000 to 1,000,000 shares of stock are changing hands daily at the present low prices. Not all of this represents the margin trading of speculators. A lot of these issues are going into the hands of level-headed investors who pick up the stocks of substantial, well managed and solidly founded firms, knowing that these stocks are going to be worth far more than they paid for them. Issues dumped on the market at the rate of five million shares a day when the break came are finding their way back into the hands of shrewd buyers who will cash in on their faith when industry is busy again.

This applies only to investors and not to speculators. The market may drop again before it starts its real climb and the man buying on margin is taking the same chance that this practice always entails.

It isn't only in the field of big buying that these opportunities are offered. Ordinary household purchasing offers proportionate opportunities. Furniture, for example, presents bargains that have not been equalled within the memory of most of the present day housekeepers. It is wise economy to buy now for any replacements in prospect during the next few years.

It is a good time to repair or remodel buildings. The job which can be put off for a couple of years is likely to cost so much more then that the delay will be poor economy.

Unlike the coming of the depression, the recovery of business will be a gradual process. Prices will rise in such an orderly manner that unless watched closely costs will be considerably higher before anybody is aware of the change.

Wise Americans with money will make it grow by investment while prices are near the bottom. The others, 10 years from now, will be telling how they might have made a fortune if they had taken advantage of the opportunities of 1931.

What Others Say

The summer vacation season is near its close, but much of the vacation advice offered by Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health of Pennsylvania, is applicable also to every-day conditions. He says that moderation is more a term than actuality these days. The majority of persons run in high gear, fast and furious at work and equally so at play.

"It is no wonder," Dr. Appel says, "that people crack prematurely." He adds:

"Whatever the virtues of the machine may be, and they are many, the habit of excessive pace in all departments of life that has directly resulted is, to say the least, unfortunate. One has but to note the rush here and there, either by gasoline or legs the chugging down of food at restaurants, the loss of sleep and the excesses of all kinds that compose too much of the average person's day, to realize that an overhasty pace has the best of most of us.

"The idea of rest and relaxation which in the years gone by was so inherently associated with the vacation period has all but passed out of existence. Thoroughly exhausted by the winter's work and pleasures the vast majority of persons look upon the vacation season as a time for further excesses. To come home with a back full of blisters, a stomach disordered by ill chosen and excessive quantities of food and a body completely overfatigued, seems to be the deliberate object of thousands of persons, judging by their performance.

"The honest fact is that modern life makes tremendous demands upon one's vitality, and that if there ever was a time when bodies need the reconditioning that real rest and relaxation can give, it is now."

There is good sense and the ring of rightness in this professional advice. Some of the practical suggestions may be useful immediately. If not, clip this and paste it in your old straw hat for ready reference early next summer.—Toledo Blade.

The Stars Say—

Saturday, Aug. 29

A very lively but baffling state of affairs is betokened by the rather conflicting and peculiar lunar influences. While there may be sudden turns to affairs, with singular and intriguing complications, yet there is also sign of some stable progress, possibly in connection with property or with large corporations or combines. But there is menace of both secret and open hostility, with some reactions violent and unexpected, possibly touching personal contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of peculiar and unexpected development or complications, with both secret and open hostility, probably hinting of legal entanglements of an ill-advised nature. Sign all writings cautiously beware irregularities of all natures. A child born on this day may have an unusual nature, with conflicting qualities, although it should be talented.

Notable Nativty: Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, author.

WAGNER, S. D.—The loss of an eye was suffered by Wilbur James, 16, when he was hit by a golf ball. The eyeball was fractured and infection set in within a few hours.

Rule Is Difficult

Governor Paul M. Pearson (above), of the Virgin Islands, is reported having some difficulty in administering the new civil government in the Islands, although Washington adds that it is too early to decide whether it is a success or failure. Governor Pearson took over the civil government from naval officials last March.

NEW YORK
Day by Day
by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—Thoughts while strolling: Wonder what Shakespeare would think of our Rialto? Hope Williams and Beatrice Lillie have identical profiles. Delicately slogan: "Our fame warrants our name." The Park avenue club doorman whose name is Pat Noonan. But is called Todhunter. Svonque!

Geraldine Farrar, a Melrose, Mass., girl, who made good in the city. Those brimmed postage stamp hats ladies wear cocked on one side. The poly-poly Pitt Sanborn, music critic. Few offer the worldly diffidence of a cub reporter. Orchids $1.50 each. And not many takers.

The Chrysler spare reminds me of a stubby thumb. A New York branch of the Paris Hermes—leather things. Oscar of the Waldorf suggests one of those ruddy checked English curates. The terrific expense of the huge fur stores in summer. Now I'm a fur worrier.

A gathering of clouds, sudden blackness, a shower and all is sunny again. That's the way trouble vanishes. Thackeray represented 40 as the age of settled sobriety. But that was long ago. Today the boys just begin to cut up at that age.

Nobody seems jealous of Bob Ripley's amazing success.

Buster West and Eddie Foy, Jr., walk alike. And there's Charles King who walk like George M. Cohan. But the most graceful walker of all is Jack Dempsey. Bob Davis has finally talked me into playing a game of golf. Wellington Cross and his wife.

Chalked naughtiness on the sidewalk in front of the Vanderbilt home. Radio City is beginning to take shape. I always get off balance turning a Broadway and 57th street corner. Just a flutter in the wind: One of Broadway's squeakiest shooters—Sime Silverman.

Tom Forman, the Palace conductor, ragged lads with chewing gum on sticks fishing for coins through subway gratings. Tony Biddle wears the widest winged collar since Louis Mann's. Walking all through the white lights I remember but two signs—the girls swinging at 47th street and the news bulletin flashes.

Another one of those Beekman and Sutton Places has sprung up at the foot of West 46th street overlooking the bleakness of Welfare Island. It is four blocks along East End avenue and facing the clump of greenery known as Carl Schurz Park. On either side of the aristocratic area stretches a tenement neighborhood. Vincent Astor is reputed to have sponsored it and flung up one of the most pretentious apartment houses.

On the river side of Schurz park is an asphalt esplanade with comfortable benches where a friend and I rested a moment. Out of the park came a well dressed, clean cut and rather young man. Approaching us he told excitedly of having just arrived from California, and that he must have something to do—any sort of odd job for a meal and a place to sleep. His embarrassment was acute and both of us reached instinctively for a coin. "I'm not a beggar," he said and his chin quivered. Before we could stop him he rushed off. In the car going home we saw him on a corner a few blocks away, stopped and motioned to him but again he walked swiftly on—the most pathetic picture of complete bewilderment I ever saw.

My friend and I drove on in a silence of self accusation. Unfairly, he had judged a personable youth immediately as a beggar. I am satisfied the young man was a stranger, sincerely honest and frightened by a great city. Our treatment was impulsively thoughtless but nevertheless shabby and if he tried to shame us he did the job thoroughly.

Incidentally, my friend, from out of town is quite deaf but has found a way of enjoying the best shows and concerts. By sending his seat number and $7.50 four days in advance to an agency an ear phone is installed. A sterilized ear piece awaits at the box office to attach to the handle.

Sign in window of an East 53rd street residence: "Don't ring our bell. Speakeasy on third floor back."

Billy B. Van sends me a bottle of concentrated pine to sprinkle into a jar of sand, place near the bed "and woe sleep in the aroma of a great, clean forest." "I'm trying it out tonight and with my imagination I'll probably show up for breakfast swarming with red ants.

Typhoid Warnings

Summer is the season when there is a great migration of people to the country. The automobile carries the vacationist in search of happiness. All through the year travel is more extensive than ever before.

City dwellers rarely appreciate and hardly realize the protective measures at their disposal. A number of other advantages the careful supervision of the water supply by the city authorities guards against typhoid fever.

No such supervision can be had in the broad countryside. It befalls those who camp by the wayside, or put up in small isolated sections to be careful of the water they drink.

In the past 30 years the advances in science have been so great that, among other advantages, there is no reason for anyone to contract typhoid fever. Typhoid fever is prevented, not only by supervision of the public water supply, but by individual typhoid inoculation.

There are too many districts where the water is contaminated. Because of this, and also because most persons are apt to be careless, it is advisable to be inoculated against typhoid fever. This is particularly important if you contemplate traveling abroad.

It is rare indeed for a case of typhoid fever to be found in the United States Army. This is because every soldier has been inoculated against typhoid fever. I see no reason why every civilian should not take advantage of this protection.

The injections are simple and do not require loss of time from work. They are given once a week—a total of three injections. Occasionally, following the second injection, there may be a mild fever but this rarely lasts more than 24 hours.

I recommend that all individuals who contemplate any absence from home consider this means of protection.

Answers to Health queries
B. A. B. Q.—What do you advise for dandruff?

A.—Brush the hair daily and use a good tonic. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

B. R. Q.—What causes excessive perspiration?

A.—This is usually due to some nervous disorder. You should have treatment for the nervousness.

T. G. G. Q.—What should a girl of 15, 5 ft. 2 in. tall, weigh?

A.—She should weigh about 112 pounds—this would be about average for her age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons.

R. P. Q.—What causes little sore places on the tip and sides of the tongue?

A.—These may be due to canker sores caused by an acid condition of the system. Correct your diet and be sure that the bowels are kept open. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A. J. R. J. Q.—What do you advise for constipation—the bowels move very irregularly, accompanied by pain in the back, etc?

2.—Would this condition account for the fact that I have a coated tongue and sour mouth as well as slight muscular pains throughout the body?

A.—Proper attention to the diet as well as regular exercise should help to correct these symptoms. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Yes, these are all indicative of sluggish elimination. Clear up the constipation and you will notice improvement.

Mrs. W. W. Q.—What is the difference between leukocythemia and pernicious anemia? Is either condition curable? Is the spleen apt to be affected?

A.—The former is a condition where there is a permanent increase in the number of the white corpuscles and in pernicious anemia there is a diminution in the number of the red corpuscles. There is no specific cure but proper diet and general care should bring about increased comfort and relief. Yes, the doctor attending the individual patient should be the one to prescribe the necessary treatment.

J. J. M. Q.—What causes a pain on the left side not far from the center of the stomach?

A.—These symptoms are probably due to hyperacidity. Watch your diet and be sure to keep the bowels open and the system clear. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

G. M. Q.—Is cod liver oil just as beneficial in the case of adults as it is in the case of children?

2.—How can I clear up a bronchial cough?

3.—What causes weak spells.

A.—Yes, it acts as a general tonic and builder for either an adult or a child.

2.—Improve your general health and you will be less susceptible to the germs of colds and coughs. For full particulars send self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

3.—Weak spells may be due to a number of different conditions. See your doctor for examination and definite advice.

E. R. Q.—What can be done for bashfulness?

A.—Try to cultivate poise by mingling with people and keeping abreast of the times.

SYNOPSIS.

Sally Rutherford, the last of a proud old southern family, following the ruin and suicide of her grandfather, determines to keep the heavily mortgaged Oakleigh plantation for her grandmother. She opens a hot dog stand on the Dixie highway. The estate of the Winsteads of carpet-bagging stock, adjoins Oakleigh. Henry Winstead holds the Oakleigh mortgage. His only son, Sam, is a great help to Sally, although she doesn't know his real identity until the stand is successfully started. Sally falls in love with Lowndes Jennings and believes herself to be his promised wife. Sam forces Lowndes to admit, in front of Sally, that he is engaged to the wealthy Gertrude Reinert. Sam asks Sally to marry him, although he knows she doesn't love him. Sally decides to accept his offer.

The pale girl at his side couldn't but note, with something of dull surprise, how handsome Sam Winstead was tonight. He had turned white to the lips when he had placed the wedding ring on his bride's finger, but now his color had returned. His lips were red, his eyes were blue depths, his hair was riotously alive, the clasp of his hand firm and warm. She had never seen any one so vital, so virile so dynamic. And he was her husband. Sam Winstead—Sarah de Saussure—Winstead.

Wearing her faintest, laciest nightgown, her finest lace cap, the lovely lace shawl around her shoulders fastened with a pink rosebud grandmamma, sitting up among her snowy pillows, was waiting to receive them. The pale little bride of tonight looked at her with pride, and love, and gratitude—the beautiful old lady was safe now and secure in her own home until the end. Her remaining years were protected—loss, disaster, poverty could never touch her. Sally would suffer no more anguished fears for grandmamma! Surely, that made everything all right, that was worth any sacrifice. She had kept her promise to poor grandpapa.

Mrs. Rutherford looked at Sally in her bridal white, kissed her, and held out her hand to the bridegroom, who stood beside her bed and looking down at her with eyes that reminded her of Rupert's. His heart had long since gone out to the colonel's ghostly wife, living in her merciful illusion.

"Sally's husband!—You will take care of my child, you will make her happy! I am so glad that Sally has chosen you, dear boy. You would make any girl happy—your eyes say so."

"My chief aim in life is to make your girl happy. You Sally is my Sally, too, grandmamma," he told her.

"She is such a darling girl, Sam! You don't know how dear, how good she is to her old grandmother!" There were tears in her eyes and, seeing them, Sam sat on the edge of the bed and gathered her in his arms. The old arms went about his shoulder, the old cheek leaned against his ruddy one.

"I am so glad to have a grandson!" she sighed. "Grandson, I have but one grief—that her dear grandfather couldn't be here to give her in marriage—to you. But he will come home tomorrow morning. How surprised he will be when I tell him, Sally!"

"Not surprised, dear grandmamma. But satisfied and happy, I hope."

"No, not surprised—I am sure he will understand," said the bridegroom.

"I feel that he would have chosen you for Sally, grandson, had the choice been his. As I would had it been mine," said she sweetly. "I consider the whole affair as a lovely surprise for Rupert! What a happy time I shall have tomorrow when he comes home! She added: "Sally, see, I have put my piece of wedding cake aside. I shall put it under my pillow, and dream of my own bridegroom, and how happy we've been together."

Essie, in a bright new frock in honor of Miss Sally's wedding, now brought a small table to Miss Sarah's bedside, spread it with a cobwebby lace cover, placed on it two tall silver candlesticks and a vase of red roses, a silver basket of wedding cake a decenter of wedding wine, and three of the tall wine glasses that had been used at Grandmamma's own wedding. The candles were lighted, and the old lady was prepared to toast the bridal pair. The bridegroom poured the wine, and Mrs. Rutherford lifted her glass. "To the last Rutherford—the last bride of our house! The sweetest and dearest girl in the whole world!" said she. The bride touched the rim of her glass with her lips, but the bridegroom and grandmamma drank. "And to Sally Rutherford's bridegroom! Again the old hand lifted the glass. "Long, long years of prosperity to him and his, and may health and happiness, of peace and the blessing of God our father rest upon his house!" Sally touched the rim of the glass again. Sam looked at her steadily, then deliberately raised his glass, bowed to Mrs. Rutherford, and drank. Grandmamma was much too excited to notice that Sally's glass remained full. "Now sit down beside me, my children," commanded the old lady. "So I can touch you both, so I can hold a hand of each." She drew them both nearer. Sally avoided her bridegroom's eyes. She was married to Sam Winstead.

When the mild old eyes met hers lovingly she smiled as best she could, hiding her sick despair. Her new wedding ring burned her finger. She had a sense of panic when her eyes fell upon it. Presently, because grandmamma mustn't be allowed to exhaust her little strength, the bridegroom laid her back among her pillows, bidding her sleep well. Then he offered his arm to his bride. They should rejoice their guests. (Copyright: 1931: By Marie Conway Oemler) (Continued Tomorrow)

That After the Game Soda Spoiled Everything

They had enjoyed a most wonderful game of tennis. He was captivated by her good looks, by her dash and nerve. And now, at the little table after the game, they were sipping cooling sodas—just the time to get chummy—you know how it is. Well, it was just too bad. For she, the delight of his eye, suffered from Sudoresis—in other words, excessive perspiration, due to over activity of the sweat glands—and that took away all the glamor. There is a sure remedy for Sudoresis. It is called HANDEX. Apply a little under the arms, on the hands, the feet and you will be delighted with the result. It does away with that unpleasant odor. There is no need to forego the pleasure of summer—tennis, golf, dancing. Use Handex before you start, for its effect lasts for hours. It leaves the skin soft and amooth, yet prevents that excessive perspiration which gives rise to those disagreeable body odors which we all want to avoid. Don't take chances. Keep Handex on your dressing table. Use it regularly. It will do its full share to make your summer pleasant and free from embarrassment. Get a bottle of Handex today!

THREE FAMILIES IN REUNION

Approximately 250 relatives and friends of the Cyrus, Ormes and Manzella families attended their 10th annual gathering Thursday at Centennial park.

The oldest in the company were Mrs. Nancy Ormes, 82, of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Lucinda Cyrus, 6, Salem, R. D.

The youngest was Jacquelyn Arle, 10 weeks old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Ormes of Pittsburgh.

One death occurred in the association since the last reunion and one birth was reported.

Officers of the association are: President, Barney Ormes; vice president, Lloyd Cyrus; secretary-treasurer, T. H. Cyrus.

Those in attendance were from Martin's Ferry, Ala.; St. Louis, Mo.; Patterson, N. J.; Washington, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Monongahela, Pa. and towns in this district.

Last night this group held a dance at the Rumanian hall, Depot st. A Cleveland orchestra furnished music.

The reunion on the fourth Thursday in August next year will be at the same place.

MISS SENTFEN'S CLASS

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at a meeting of Miss Laura Sentfen's class of the Baptist church Thursday evening at the home of Miss Wilma Kirchgessner, South Lincoln ave.

They are: President, Miss Kirchgessner; vice president, Miss Evelyn Alexander; secretary-treasurer, Miss Catherine Hinton.

A wiener roast was enjoyed after the business session. Guests of the class were Miss Bessie Tabor of Cleveland, and Miss Ruth Scott of Salem.

LEAP YEAR CLUB

Leap Year club members had a coverd dinner Thursday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Rhodes of North Lincoln ave. Readings entertained.

Mrs. Ann Reese of Millville and Misses Virginia Everstine and Janita Reeves of Salem, were guests.

The members will hold a meeting in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Lydia Reeves, Pidgeon rd. Mrs. Reeves will serve dinner.

GOSHEN HARMONY CLUB

Fifteen members of the Goshen Harmony club attended a meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ida Bedell, East State st.

There were two visitors, Mrs. T. V. Ruffe and Mrs. Clara Ovington. Needlework occupied the hours. Lunch was served.

Meeting on Sept. 24, the members will be guests of Mrs. Bogar, Goshen rd.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Police

Find Bloody Clothing in Garage

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 28.—Police said today they found bloodstained clothing of a woman in a garage built at a village near here by Cornelius O. Pierson, who is being held in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Asta Bulck Eicher, and her three children from their home at Park Ridge, Ill.

Letters Are Found

The police also said there were letters written to the woman and photographs in the garage, located the Buckingham pike.

Pierson built the garage a few months ago, the authorities said.

The officers still were at Quiet Dell this morning while Pierson was in the Clarksburg jail following his arrest yesterday. Park Ridge authorities have warrants charging him with manslaughter and kidnapping in connection with the disappearance of the woman, a widow, and her children. The officers did not disclose the evidence on which they based the charges.

Blood In Garage

The interior of the garage was spattered with blood, authorities said, and an undertaker was summoned to Quiet Dell from Clarksburg while preparations were made to dig up the earth around the building.

There were suitcases of women's and children's clothing in the garage.

Effective Sept. 1

All the appointments are as of Sept. 1, when the cigar tax law becomes effective. The inspectors will be called into Columbus for a week's schooling next Monday.

While they probably will be assigned to their home districts at the beginning, members of the tax commission said, they will be shifted at various times to other districts.

The commission also announced today that no cigar dealer, either wholesale or retail, is permitted to resell stamps which he has purchased. If he should go out of business with a supply of stamps, he can have them redeemed either by the state treasurer or county treasurer, the only officials authorized to sell the stamps in the first district.

Under the cigar law, a tax of one cent on every 10 cigars is imposed.

Problem For Dealers If the tax stamps refuse to stick

COUNTY GETS STAMPS

Making Them Adhere to Glossy Wrappings Will Be Problem for Dealers

LISBON, Aug. 28.—The first consignment of cigar stamps for wholesale and retail dealers, was received Thursday afternoon by Treasurer Fred George from State Treasurer Harry S. Day, consisting of 10,000 one-cent stamps; 170,000 two-cent stamps and 10,000 five-cent stamps. The shipment has a value of $4,000.

Under the cigar law, a tax of one cent on every 10 cigars is imposed.

Wholesalers requiring credit must be under bond supplied by an accredited company, the amount to

to the glossy wrappings on some of the cigar packages. It will be a problem for retailers and wholesalers to solve.

That was the decision of the state tax commission.

Other states having cigar taxes report that stamps will not stick to the new glossy composition covering.

Should stamps come off the glossy covering and packages be sold unknowingly without the stamp, dealers are subject to fine and imprisonment.

Forty-eight cigar tax law inspectors will be placed on the state payroll, on Sept. 1, at an annual cost of no less than $72,000 a year.

They will receive $1,500 and expenses a year each. A superintendent under whom the inspectors will operate, was named by the commission recently at a salary of $3,400.

The state is to be divided into districts and a certain number of inspectors assigned to each district. The tax commission also forwarded regulations governing administration of the new revenue law.

Under these rules wholesalers and jobbers will affix the stamps. Retailers will put stamps on each package if they deal directly with the manufacturers themselves.

Cancellation Required Wholesalers, before delivery to retailers, will be required to cancel all stamps on packages by writing or stamping on them their names and date of cancellation.

Within 24 hours of receipt of unstamped cigars, retailers must affix the labels and cancel them in the same manner as provided for wholesalers.

Wholesalers will be allowed 10 per cent discount for all stamps purchased from the state treasurer, who will handle their sale.

Wholesalers are allowed 30 days for credit. The discount is allowed to cover the cost of extra work in affixing the stamps. Retailers are allowed no discount.

Wholesalers requiring credit must be under bond supplied by an accredited company, the amount to equal the value of stamps purchased.

Where wholesalers are also retailers of cigars in the same place of business, the retail department must be separated from the rest of the establishment by a partition not less than five feet from the floor.

Herndon, who flew with Pangborn from New York to Japan, tells Senator Borah: "We are still in a jam. Please get us permission from Japan to fly the Pacific nonstop to the United States."

Senator Borah probably will do his best, and the wise Japanese will say: "All right, go fly. But don't fly over and photograph our fortifications this time."

Before we criticize Japan, let us ask what we should say if two estimable Japanese pilots flew to this country over our fortifications. Taking photographs on the way.

The Italian King and Mussolini, having watched nearly 1,000 Italian airplanes in a mock war, do not deceive themselves or the public. They announce that if it had been a real battle, it would have wiped out Spezia, Italy's shipbuilding center, in short order while the King and Mussolini looked on.

France has perhaps five times as many fighting planes as Italy, more than Italy and England combined. But a man with five revolvers respects the man with only one, because one is enough to do a job. A thousand English or Italian airplanes, starting unexpectedly, would be enough to work unpleasant wonders over Paris or any other European capital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeVoi who sailed for China on Aug. 15, are the only out-going missionaries this summer. Mr. and Mrs. DeVoi are well known in this district. Mr. DeVoi being a son of the late Dr. Isabel French DeVoi, a Damascus woman.

Rev. Cattell to Speak
Rev. Everett Cattell of Springfield, formerly of Alliance, and well known among members of the Salem church, will preach at the annual Young People's service at 7:30 tonight.

Rev. Truman C. Kenworthy of Richmond, Ind., formerly of Damascus gave an address this afternoon.

The annual Junior missionary program was given at 3:40 p. m. At the Thursday afternoon session Rev. C. F. Bailey of Salem, discussed stewardship, under the subject of "God's Financial Lubrication."

Rev. Bailey used for his talk the second verse of the third epistle of John: "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth."

Poverty and piety do not necessarily have to go together in the opinion of Rev. Bailey.

He discussed the "store house plan" as God's plan for financing the work of the church. In this plan all of the tithe is brought into the church treasury, and distributed from it to the different departments, such as the general expenses, missionary work, etc.

Rev. Bailey told how the "store house plan" had worked in the church of which he is pastor. The church has had enough money to keep its financial obligations paid up.

SHOW INTEREST IN JUNIOR FAIR

More Buckeye Boys and Girls to Exhibit
This Year

COLUMBUS, Aug. 28. — This year more Buckeye boys and girls will exhibit at the state junior fair than ever before. I. S. Guthery, director of agriculture, announced today. "So many of these Ohio boys and girls have stated their intention to take part in this popular feature of the Ohio State Fair that the space provided for them was found to be inadequate."

"Formerly the junior fair has been housed in the two large 4-H club buildings located on the state fair grounds. This year these buildings have been remodeled. The buildings formerly used to quarter 4-H club livestock will be used to take care of the great increase in the future farmers of America and vocational agriculture departments."

"The livestock will be placed under the viaduct, under which new pens have been built. More than 50 carloads of animals have been placed under this viaduct, and former exhibitors who have seen the improvements made, have expressed their satisfaction in these changes. It was hoped that with this additional space, sufficient accommodation had been provided for this year's junior fair."

"When the entries closed Saturday, August 15, and the final check-up was made, it was found that additional space would be required so that the exhibits of these boys and girls from Ohio fairs and cities could be arranged in a proper manner; the state fair management has turned over to the junior fair the building formerly used by the state department of education. Juvenile granges will be given space in this building, along with the exhibits of the City School Gardens and the School Shop exhibits."

CHICAGO—Restoration of Abraham Lincoln's Illinois log cabin to its original site in Cole county, as part of a Lincoln shrine, is planned by officers of the Abraham Lincoln Log Cabin association which, in the '90's brought the cabin to Chicago for exhibition purposes.

LINDY MYSTERY TO BE SOLVED?

What are they going to do next? Rumors thick; one says Anne going home and famous hubby will continue trip

BY W. W. CHAPLIN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. — The "Lindbergh mystery," thickening ever since Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took off for the orient a month ago, is soon to be solved. The mystery consists of what the Lindberghs are going to do next, and it has withstood all investigation since the vacation journey was first announced.

"We are going to the orient," Col. Lindbergh said here in announcing that he and his wife planned the next flight westward. "We will go to Japan and perhaps China. After that our plans are indefinite."

Today in Tokyo he still kept the future shrouded in mystery. "We are going to China," he said. "After that our plans are indefinite."

Now He Says No
But China is a long way from the Atlantic seaboard and the Lind-berghs will want to return to their baby when they have had enough of vacationing. Will they go on around the world? Colonel Lindbergh was quoted as saying "yes" he has been quoted more recently as saying "no." Will they retrace their perilous course across Bering Sea, Alaska and Canada, or will they return by steamer? Col. Lindbergh has consistently smiled and shaken his head at such questions.

"Our plans are indefinite. After China there are no plans."

But after a few days in Japan the Lindberghs will be in China and then there will have to be plans. But today the mystery was as thick as ever and like most mysteries it was bearing its full harvest of rumors.

The latest, unconfirmed but persistent, was that Col. Lindbergh would proceed from China to Australia and that in due time he would fly the airmail route from there to England, thence to return by some undetermined course and means of transportation to America.

This report received credence

Extended Flight, Rumor

For part of the rumor was that Col. Lindbergh was considering such an extended flight that all in all he might be away from home for well on towards a year. And it was not generally believed that Mrs. Lindbergh would stay away from her year-old baby for so long a period. Many thought that after the Oriental visit was concluded she would take steamer for home across the Pacific, leaving her husband to continue his travels through the air.

But all the speculation and guesses wound up with the same conclusion: That nothing would be known definitely until the Lindberghs reached China, and that when the mystery would be satisfactorily dispelled.

BOSTON — The extraordinary popularity of Mrs. Maud Tails' boarding house mystified police until they inspected the menu, which offered under "Beverages" a choice of "coffee, tea, milk or beer." She was arrested, but the case was filed when she promised to strike beer off the menu.

CHICAGO—There are 431,000 of Chicago's 600,000 school children suffering from dental defects and they have a total of 2,000,000 cavities that need filling, according to former Health Commissioner Arnold H. Kegel and Dr. Benjamin S. Partridge, past president of the Chicago Dental Society.

BATON ROUGE, La.—Louisiana is progressing as an industrial state, George Long, president of the Louisiana Manufacturers' Association, said today. Approximately 320,000 persons are on the payroll of 1,721 manufacturing concerns, which produce 852 different products, Long said.

MOVIES

Opening today at the State is what is declared by many reviewers and critics as the outstanding dramatic talking opus featuring William Haines. Entitled "Just a Gigolo," the picture shows the carefree and happy-go-lucky actor in a new characterization with Irene Purcell, C. Aubrey Smith and Lillian Bond in supporting roles.

Grand Shows Thriller
"Just a Gigolo" plays at the State today and Saturday. The Grand features another popular western thriller, "Clearing the Range," starring Hoot Gibson with winsome Sally Eilers as his leading lady. Lyle Kildare, Juan Conares, George Mendoza and Jack Byron are in the supporting cast.

An unusual group of added attractions, News, Cartoons and talking comedies are co-featured with the main entertainment at each theater.

The plot of "Just a Gigolo" shows Haines as a ne'er-do-well nephew of Smith, forced to promise his uncle to marry the girl of the latter's choice in an effort to "settle down."

Dramatic Climax
He meets the girl (Miss Purcell), toys with her affections amid a series of hilarious occurrences, is paid with a severe slap in the face and is rudely awakened to the unfortunate fact that he loves her.

It's an unusually attractive picture. The supporting cast of Maria Alba, Albert Conti, Yola D'Avril, Lenora Bushman and others adds much to its entertainment values.

"Clearing the Range," produced by M. H. Hoffman, Jr. for Allied pictures, is the first of a new series of Hoot Gibson specials which will picture the authentic life of the real West as it was before modern influence swept it.

Today's Pattern

BOLEROS ARE FLATTERING
PATTERN 2107

The bolero continues in favor, and as contrast must be seen on every new model, the frock sketched will hold first place among Fall fashions. It is just a front bolero joined in the side seams, but a mighty becoming feature for slim and stout alike. You'll like this model in satin, crepe, sheer wool or velvet, the blouse in a lighter, contrasting color.

Pattern 2107 is obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 14 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39 inch material and 1/2 yard of 36 inch contrasting. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

THE NEW FALL CATALOG is now ready. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kid's clothes. Also delightful gift suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns.

RADIO PROGRAMS

America's second "good will" program to Germany has been set for Sunday, September 6. It will consist of songs of Dixie by the Southernaires quartet and besides the transmission on WEAF-NBC, it will cross the Atlantic on short waves. This feature is part of the program exchange now going on between the United States and Germany.

Everywhere that John S. Young, NBC announcer goes nowadays, there's a policeman along. In the radio and out, at the microphone away, this guardsman is present, keeping an alert eye peeled for a possible carrying out of that threat that Young received by telephone this week against his life. The threat followed his announcement of the anti-gangster rally broadcast on Monday night.

Try These Tonight

NEWS IN BRIEF

TRINIDAD, Colo.—J. L. Warburton faces charges of grand larceny. He is charged with the theft of 2,600 pounds of beans, valued at $84.50.

MERIDEN, Conn. — Thirty-six chickens were doomed when one of them pecked a pearl earring from the hearing of Mrs. Catherine Garlick, owner of the birds. She was unable to pick out the bird that flew at her as she was pouring grain into a pan so she ordered all to be killed and examined.

CHICAGO—Approximately $325,000.00 will be spent in 1931 on construction of hotels and fraternal clubs in America, according to a hotel survey recently completed by the Indiana Limestone company.

BLITHEVILLE, Ark.—A bolt of lightning knocked Jim Owens' pipe from his mouth and threw him across the room. He was unhurt save for a slight burn.

There is only one gasoline that can deliver greater performance than PENNZIP

THE SPECTACULAR NEW GREEN MOTOR FUEL

and that is PENNZIP

PENNZIP has been developed for modern motors and driving needs. It is a spectacular motor fuel—extraordinary in ability, yet it costs no more than ordinary gasoline. Pennzip effectively reduces knocking, because it increases in driving force throughout the length of the piston stroke. This produces a remarkable smoothness and increase of power.

Your first gallon of Pennzip will prove its superiority. Quicker starting, faster pickup, more speed, and greater mileage are Pennzip advantages that you should enjoy.

Ethyl

THERE is only one motor fuel better than Pennzip and that is Pennzip Ethyl. It has all the superior features of Pennzip plus the advantages that Ethyl alone can give.

Use Pennzoil Motor Oil in your motor. It is made from 100% pure Pennsylvania crude and nothing else. It lubricates and protects your engine better. It costs less per mile. Millions of motorists call it "the best motor oil in the world."

Here and There :: About Town

Enter New Building
The Greenish Tire Service company today entered its new location at the corner of East Pershing at and South Lundy. The company was formerly located on South Broadway.

Galen Greenish, the company's owner, has been in the tire business in Salem six years. The new building is a brick, all modern structure, equipped with gasoline station and tire and battery service equipment.

Will Play At Service
Prof. Marshall Bailey of Wittenberg college, Springfield, will give special organ numbers at the Sunday morning service at the Methodist Episcopal church.

He is a brother of Mrs. Perry Mc-
Artor, South Lincoln ave.
Rev. R. F. Mayer of Cambridge, former pastor of this church, will preach the sermon.

Rev. Mayer is the father of Rev.
S. A. Mayer, pastor of the church.

Church Flower Day
The Farr class of the Christian church, taught by Miss Ethel Beardmore, will be in charge of Flower day Sunday at this church.

Members of the church having bouquets of garden flowers are asked to bring them to the church at 2 p. m. Saturday.

PILOT, AID SAVE 12 FROM PLANE

Pan-American Amphibian
Plunges Into Sea
Off Gloucester

GLoucester, MASS., Aug. 28
A pilot's skill and a radio operator's daring were credited today with saving the lives of 12 persons as a Pan-American airways amphibian plane plunged into the sea off Gloucester in a heavy fog.

Edward Banwell, of Auburn, Me., drowned unnoticed as the passengers were transferred from the plane to a rubber life raft.

Saved By Schooner
The fishing schooner Nova Julia, entering the harbor, came upon the nine passengers and three members of the crew of the Halifax-Boston bound plane. They had been clinging to the small rubber raft for more than an hour.
William Elmore of Miami, Fla.,
the pilot, brought the plane down to the surface of the water when fog set in. A wave struck one of the pontoons, crushing it, and within a few minutes, the amphibious sank.

Elmore, cut on the jaw when he was thrown against the instrument board of the ship, aided the passengers to the wings of the plane and dived repeatedly into the water-filled cabin to get the rubber life raft. Alfred W. Eston, of North Abington, Mass., radio operator on the plane, took up the task of locating the raft as Elmore became exhausted.

Drowns During Transfer
Once launched, the raft was steadied by the crew of the plane while the passengers were led aboard. During the transfer of passengers Banwell was lost overboard.

With darkness approaching the survivors were about to give up hope when the Nova Julia edged through the fog. Capt. Leo Sava-loro of the Nova Julia hove alongside, launched a dory, and took passengers and crew to Gloucester.
Nine passengers were taken to Addison Gilbert hospital suffering from minor bruises, shock and immersion.

THE DAY In Sports

SPORTS AS A PROFESSION
ATHLETICS BENEFIT MANY
RICHES, WASTE, POVERTY

Riches, reckless waste, poverty—three words, each playing a part in the tragic story of Pete Sarmiento, colorful Filipino who once possessed championship potentialities as a bantam and heavyweight boxer. Sarmiento, blind in one eye he who amassed more than $300,000 during his meteoric fistic career, has accepted a position as dishwasher at $16 a week salary.

Sarmiento's fate recalls the fact that the realm of sport, which furnishes entertainment for millions, also offers countless numbers of athletes an opportunity that is seldom found in other professional fields. Those athletes who reap a financial harvest from the field of sport many times benefit to the extent that they are able to establish themselves in business and win success in other lines. Professional athletics has done this for many. There are others, too, who have not benefited from participation as professionals. Boxing, football, track and field, other athletic activities, have had their unfortunate incidents but they are only exceptions. Business exacts a heavier toll of tragic circumstances than any sport or all combined.

Professionalism has reduced popularity of sports but the type of athlete competing, much higher today than a decade ago, is gradually having its effect on John Public. William Tilden, Henry Cochet and other racquet stars entertained fans for years without remuneration. It was impossible, because of their tennis, that they should settle into any other business. It is only natural that their favorite sport should become also their life's vocation.

Gene Tunney is a typical example of what sports can do for the individual. So is Tommy Loughran and there are many others. Perhaps Meyer "Kaye" Christner or Jack Sharkey are not such popular figures in the eye of the public but they have accumulated sufficient funds to grant them a retired existence, should they so desire, the rest of their lives.

Robert Tyre Jones is condemned because he deserted the amateurs for Hollywood and a half million dollars. Harold "Red" Grange, still one of the greatest and most colorful football players who ever donned motokin regalia, was in a similar position after leaving Illinois.

Participants in sport play for recreation. They entertain millions, make thousands of dollars for colleges, private institutions and athletic organizations, enough money to enable these units to support various enterprises, construct new fieldhouses, hire expensive instructors. It is only right that they demand something in return.

Great Britain and United States should annually draw up a competitive schedule and label it "all sports." Time was when a recreation contest of international flavor was a sensation. Announcement today of the fact that John Bull and Uncle Sam were to lock horns would elicit from the sports enthusiast no more than: "What is it, golf, tennis, or polo?"

This time it is none of the three mentioned; but no match between America and the mother country this year has aroused more enthusiasm and earnest speculation than the approaching battle for world's speedboat honors and the famous Hamsworth cup scheduled for Detroit Sept. 5, 6 and 7. Several factors contribute to this interest and that calls for introduction of principals.

Kaye Don, handsome Britisher, who will pilot the Miss England II, is a name that should go down in history with that of Hawks, or, if you prefer, Mercury. His taste for speed was developed during the World war in service with the Royal Flying Corps. After the Armistice he started racing automobiles, was British motor speed champion in 1928 and 1929 and bought a new world's land speed record at Daytona a year ago.

Poor condition of the course prevented him from succeeding. A year after the death of the late Sir Henry Segrave, Don was asked to pilot Miss England. In Argentina he piloted Miss England II over an approved course to set a record of 103.49 and in Italy, later, he drove the same boat 10.123 miles an hour. Don, arriving in Detroit a few days ago, impressed citizens favorably. He spoke frankly of his prospects and admitted that if there were any boats capable of out-running the huge Miss England II, they deserved the trophy.

Opposing Don will be—that's right! Gar Wood, who needs no more introduction to Americans than does Eddie Cantor. Wood has two crafts to throw at the British entry, Miss America IX, with two supercharged motors, and Miss America VIII, with its power yet undetermined. Wood has the confidence of a man who has earned the confidence of thousands. For 11 years he has held the Harmsworth trophy for America against the attacks of French and British.

A mighty crowd of sportsmen and holiday diversion seekers will line the banks of the Detroit river next week end. And the magnet, as usual, will be the personalities involved. Few will care whether a boat does 103, or 110 miles an hour,

LEADERS DEFEAT CHINA COMPANY IN CLOSE GAME

George Early Earns 3-2 Verdict Over Shinn In Thriller

UNITED CIGARS WIN OVER GAS STATION

Two-Run Rally in Fifth Brings Home Victory to Chisholm Crew

For the first time during the second half race the Salem Softball league is ruled by another team than the Mullins Foremen's club. The Salem Hardware holding first place in the circuit today as a result of a thrilling 3-2 verdict registered Thursday at Centennial park over the Salem China company.

Stage Mound Duel
With George Early and Arthur Shinn, Pottery slowball artist, engaged in a classic pitching duel, the game was an interesting affair. The Hardware scoring one run in each of the first three frames to earn the verdict. The Potters scored in the first and third innings. Both markers coming as the result of wobbly support back of Early.

Each pitcher was given erratic backing by teammates, both teams having four misplays chalked against them. Early allowed three hits while the Hardware connected for a quartet of safeties off Shinn's deliveries.

The triumph placed the Hardware a half-game in front of the Foremen's club while the Pottery, as a result of the setback yesterday, is practically eliminated from the pennant race. Three teams, Mullins, Hardware and the Colonial Lunches are staging an hectic neck and neck fight for the flag.

Cigars Win 3-2 Game
The United Cigars were forced to stage a timely two run rally in the fifth inning to nose out the weak Community Service Station, 3-2, in another exciting frame yesterday. Miller's hurling was the big feature for the victors, the gas station crew being granted only three safeties.

Five errors back of McNamee, who allowed but five singles, hurt his team. The Chisholm team pulled into fifth place through the win. Summaries:

FERRELL TWIRLS CLEVELAND NINE TO 11-1 VICTORY

Dick Coffman Is Chased From Mound; Detroit Trims White Sox

(By Associated Press)

Dick Coffman, ambitious young right-hander of the St. Louis Browns, stopped Lefty Grove last Sunday when Connie Mack's star needed only one more victory to set an American league mark for consecutive victories. It is sad to relate what happened to Coffman his next time out, which was yesterday.

Indians Hit Hard
Facing the Cleveland Indians, the Alabamians lasted two innings in which he was hammered for eight hits and six runs and generally manhandled. Earl Averill hit his 28th home run.

As a result of their explosive start at Coffman's expense, the Indians went on to win without half trying, 11 to 1. Wes Ferrell, who has recovered fully from the effects of his no-hit, no-run game earlier in the year against the same Browns, gave up only four hits.

In the day's only other American league game, the Detroit Tigers pounded five Chicago White Sox pitchers for 13 hits and a 9 to 4 victory.

Homer Trims Reds
Pinkey Whitney, Phillie third baseman, was the day's hero in the National league. Coming up in the eighth inning with the score tied, he planted one of Kopl's offerings in the left field bleachers to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 5.

The Chicago Cubs produced one of the year's prize rallies to divide a double header with Pittsburgh. After losing the first 3 to 2, when Glenn Spencer set them down with four hits, they came back to scope eight runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap and win it, 11 to 4.

Memphis Golf Gaining
MEMPHIS—It may be the depression which is giving golfers more leisure time, or more are spending their vacations at home, but attendance at the three municipal courses here during July showed a gain of 1,436 over the corresponding month last year. Attendance for July, this year, was 34,707, compared to 33,271 in July, 1930.

Stiff 10-Game Schedule Faces East Liverpool High Grid Team

FIRST PRACTICE SESSION CALLED FOR NEXT WEEK

Football Candidates To Gather For Opening Workout Tuesday

ONLY 2 LETTERMEN ON VARSITY SQUAD

Schachern Not Optimistic Over Outlook; Play Salem Oct. 17

Facing a stiff ten-game schedule with the opening contest billed on September 26, Coach Leland Schachern today issued a call for varsity football candidates of East Liverpool High school to report for the initial workout of the 1931 season at Patterson field next Tuesday.

Two Lettermen Back

Not at all optimistic because of heavy losses sustained through graduation, Schachern arrived in East Liverpool this week, anxious to get a glimpse of his prospective varsity gridders. Only two lettermen, Andrew Stewart and Woodward McCoy, are available from the 1930 Pottery team.

The Ceramic Citizens open the season by clashing with Chester, Va., at Liverpool, the schedule being arranged to consist of seven home games and three contests on foreign gridders. The games away from home are with New Philadelphia, Martins Ferry and Wellsville, while Salem, Toronto, Midland, Pa., Canton McKinley, East Palestine, Cleveland Holy Name and Chester, will be played at Patterson field.

Looks To Youngsters
Despite scarcity of lettermen Schachern is hopeful of producing first class grid talent from a promising collection of youngsters, who served as reserves a year ago. Among the most talented of the prospects is Garner McCoy, backfield flash who starred in the Pottery 2-0 victory in a night contest with Ambridge, Pa., last spring.

Schachern is seeking a practice game for his crew prior to the opening battle with Chester. The collision with Salem High on October 10 has added greatly to interest in Pottery grid activities, it being the first time grid aggregations of the two cities have clashed since temporary suspension of relations in 1928. They clashed in basketball last season, Salem High turning in two straight triumphs by decisive scores.

Here's the team's schedule:
Sept. 26—Chester, here.
Oct. 3—New Philadelphia, there.
Oct. 10—Toronto, here.
Oct. 17—Salem, here.
Oct. 24—Midland, here.
Oct. 31—Canton McKinley, here.
Nov. 7—Martins Ferry, there.
Nov. 11—East Palestine, here (Armistice Day).
Nov. 14—Permanently open.
Nov. 21—Cleveland Holy Name, here.
Nov. 26—Wellsville, there (Thanksgiving Day).

THE DAY IN SPORTS

fewer still would be able to note any difference. Few probably would care if old John did get his finger on the trophy; the situation is almost a rival for the Lipton race.

But here in the picture of the young, confident Kaye Don opposing the seasoned, white-haired Gar Wood is a reproduction of Kid New Year and Father Time and it is this touch of color plus the always essential danger element that captivates every sportsman.

It sounds like a battle royal. May the best man with, Or, nautically speaking should one more properly say "best boat?"

One Armed Pitcher Wins
SOMERVILLE, Mass. — Harold Waterman, one-armed pitcher, turned in a no-hit, no-run game for the Somerville Critterons against the Somerville Reds. Waterman also turned in a two-hit game recently. He can play the outfield too.

33 Mermaids Enter Lake Ontario Swim

(By Associated Press)
TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 28.—Hoping for warm and smooth water, 33 mermaids were here today for the annual ten-mile women's marathon swim in Lake Ontario. First prize money totals $10,000.

Margaret Ravior of Philadelphia, who won the race last year, expected strong competition, led by Ethel Hertle Gary, New York, who finished third last year; Irene Yurack, of Elmhurst, N. Y., another 1930 money winner, and Evelyn Armstrong, of Detroit, May Looney of Warren, O., and Leah Riley of Keamsburg, N. J., who have shown themselves to be dangerous contenders.

A 14-year-old girl, the youngest ever to participate in the long distance swim, was among those who passed the physical examination for today's race. She is Helen Petrjanos of Portland, Ore.

Lake Ontario water has been warmer than usual this year, promising better conditions for the swimmers, but cool weather in the last few days has lowered the temperature slightly.

Tennis Stars Clash

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 28.—Chiff Sutter and Bruce Barnes, smooth working combination, today were to meet Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn in the semi-final round of the 50th annual national doubles tennis tournament. An unfinished third round match between John Doe and George Lott, defending titlist and Frank Shields and Sidney Wood, New York pair, was also on the card.

Sutter and Barnes, seeded eighth, yesterday provided the bloudest upset of the week by taking the measure of the highly-favored Californian team of Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, in five grueling sets.

HILLSBOROUGH, N. H. — Collecting eggs in her henhouse, Mrs. John Kulbacki noted that one of them rattled. She broke it open and found a marble in place of the conventional yolk.

Strong, Heavy Football Team Looms at Stanford; Pinckert to Return for Fullback Post

[This is another in the series of items pertaining to leading American college football outlooks for the 1931 season.]

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28. — A strong and heavy Trojan football team will take the field in late September in an effort to bring a Pacific Coast, or even a national championship for 1931, to the University of Southern California.

A survey of prospects revealed that Coach Howard Jones could blow a whistle to start practice today and find 19 tried letter men to form the backbone of the squad which must play the toughest schedule ever worked up for a U. S. C. eleven.

Jones is pleased with his 1931 prospects. Last year his team lost only to Washington State by a 7 to 6 score and to Notre Dame in a 27 to 0 deluge at the end of the season. Until the Irish came to Los Angeles, the Trojans had ranked light Orville Mohler, sophomore of last year. The left end job is open to the man with the most fight. Ernie Pinckert, all-America right halfback, will play the fullback spot if Jones can find a suitable blocker in young Robert Erskine, from Ottumwa, Ia., and if Pinckert can force Jim Musick, fullback for two years, to the bench.

Gaius Shaver, sub-fullback for two years, is the outstanding early season choice for the quarterback job. He is a triple-threat player, fast on his feet and a powerful punter. The Jones plan will call for Shaver to start important games, with Mohler coming in to skirt the ends after Shaver's bulk has wearied the opposition wing men and secondary defense.

Pinckert at Fullback

Erskine, a sophomore, showed such promise in spring practice that Jones feels he can plan on Pinckert's presence at fullback. Should Erskine falter, however, the coach will send Pinckert back to his blocking job and place Musick at full. Tom Mallory, a veteran, has the inside pull for the left halfback position.

The Trojan line will be the strongest in years. Only the left end job is uncertain and two likely candidates, Raly Sparling, a letter man, and Ford Palmer, a heavy sophomore, will be out for the job.

Garrett Arbeide, mentioned on some all-America teams last fall, will be back at right end. Ernie Smith and Tay Brown, letter men, will contest for right tackle, and Bob Hall, a tackle for two years, will go right guard for his senior year, according to Jones.

Hall's transfer from left tackle probably will be made to accommodate Aaron Rosenberg, a sophomore tackle from Fairfax High, Los Angeles. John Baker, all-America, and voted by Notre Dame players the best left guard faced last season, will play at that position. The team will be led by Captain Stan Williamson at center.

Southern California will start out Sept. 26 against St. Mary's of California. Hard games with Oregon State, Washington State, last year's coach champions; Oregon and California will follow in order. After a one week rest, Stanford will be met Nov. 7, followed by an "easy" game with Montana. The Trojans will play Notre Dame at South Bend on Nov. 21 and return to Los Angeles to face the strong University of Washington team Dec. 5. The season will end against Georgia University Dec. 12, in Los Angeles.

RULES ACCIDENT IN FATAL CRASH

Coroner Investigates Alliance Woman's Death On Crossing

ALLIANCE, Aug. 28.—Coroner T. C. McQuate of Stark county rendered a verdict of "accident" in the death of Mrs. Charles R. McLean of 2235 South Arch avenue who was killed Wednesday morning when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a New York Central train at the intersection of South Seneca avenue and East Waugh street.

Mrs. James A. Garman, 318 East Millon street, driver of the car is in the City hospital with injuries to her head sustained in the crash. X-ray examination made at the hospital Thursday failed to reveal a fracture of the skull.

The accident occurred at 9:45 a. m. Wednesday, when the car in which the two women were riding was struck by the switching engine of the New York Central in charge of Conductor William Howell and Engineer J. S. Biery. The train, approaching from the southwest, struck the car on the right where Mrs. McLean was riding. She was pronounced dead at City hospital soon afterwards.

Mrs. McLean was the wife of Charles R. McLean, assistant works manager at the American Steel Foundries company. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Cassaday and Turke funeral home in charge of Rev. J. R. Pattie, vicar of Trinity Episcopal church, of which she was a member and an active worker.

BRIGHT SPOTS IN BUSINESS

WHEELING, W. VA.—Directors of the Wheeling Steel Corp. today declared a 75 cent dividend on the new cumulative preferred stock of the corporation, payable Oct. 1, as of stock of record, Sept. 16.

It is the first dividend declared since the capital structure of the corporation was changed last June. The new set up provides that holders of preferred stock receive not less than 6 per cent per annum, which with par share value at $100 means $150 a share, quarterly. The dividend is just half that sum, which means that the other half will be paid at a later date, as earnings justify.

MARTINS FERRY, O.—Division headquarters of the Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal company today announced that men are at work getting the company's Barton mine in shape to run coal. The company will increase its employees from 800 in its Dorothy and Florence mines to 1,100 workers when the Barton opens.

The Riverside Bridge plant here was preparing to resume operation after being idle nearly a year.

WILMINGTON, Aug. 27.—The Bates Canning Co. plant here is operating on 24-hour schedule, with 90 men and 23 women busy taking care of the corn pack. Streams of 600 cans of corn each 10 hours. As many as 47 wagons have been seen lined up awaiting cargoes.

MT. STERLING.—The Mt. Sterling Canning Co. has opened for the corn pack with 125 men employed. Between 40 and 60 women will be employed soon for work in the tomato division.

PORTLAND, Me.—Automobiles crashed into a store at the end of South Portland bridge so many times in foggy weather that concrete bumpers were placed in front of it.

THE DALLES, Ore.—A horse started one of this city's largest grass fires of the season. It was believed the animal stepped on a stray match.

SAGAMORE, Mass.—A long-expected diversion at this tiny Cape Cod resort is watching the Boston-New York boat pass through the Cape Cod canal. Nightly both summer visitors and year-round residents gather along the banks to see the steamer sail by.

Keep Ice-box Cold

What every ice box needs in order to be a first rate storage spot for food is constant cold. And in order to keep food wholesome the refrigerator, whether ice-filled or mechanically chilled, must not be allowed to drop in temperature.

If ice is used, the ice chamber should be kept full—not be allowed to dwindle. An ice chamber half filled will take a long time to resume the right temperature after the next lot of ice is delivered. Meanwhile, perishable foods may spoil.

Refrigerator cold is of necessity dry cold to be a perfect food preservative. Consequently any moisture that collects because of ice overflow or liquid drippings from food should be wiped away immediately.

At least once a week the ice box needs a good bath. A mild solution of ammonia and water applied with a cloth to the walls and shelves will keep them spotless. Drain pipes need thorough cleansing with a wire brush dipped in this solution. Afterward all parts should be well dried.

Most young housekeepers, in the experimental period, make the mistake of covering the ice with paper or prepared cloths to prevent its melting too rapidly. This, of course, defeats the purpose of an ice box. It's the melting of the ice that does the chilling and to cover the ice is to insulate it against that service.

If the ice seems to melt too fast then other causes can be examined. Is the ice box situated in a sunny spot, or too near the stove? Is it opened too frequently? Or, worse yet, is it left open for several minutes at a time while somebody chips ice or carries food back and forth? An open ice box admits room temperature and it takes some time for the ice chamber to resume its normal cold after that sort of exposure.

SALEM, Ore.—Any freak motor vehicle traveling on Oregon highway's must have an automobile license. Oregon's attorney general so ruled, when reports were received that a mechanical device constructed by boys using a washing machine motor for power, was used on state roads.

TULSA, OKLA.—A sunflower which is not a sunflower grows in the middle of Dr. Fred S. Clinton's flower garden. Clinton planted old-fashioned sunflower seed and from one grew this flower, some petals of which are red, others brown and still others yellow. Botanists believe the sunflower has crossed with a coreopsis.

Sensation Due

Major Roy Ammel (above), who made the first non-stop flight from the United States to Panama several months ago, is reported to be ready to announce plans for another sensational flight which may surpass even that of Post and Gatty in daring. Ammel has purchased a fast new plane for his promised aerial adventure.

EXPERIENCE

It has often been said that "Experience is the Greatest Teacher," and during the present business depression many people have learned by bitter experience how unwise it is not to protect themselves against adversity.

Start now to protect yourself against future adversity by saving a part of your income.
